Eukaryotes (/ j uːˈeɪˌkær i oʊˈtɪ, -ˈeɪ t /) are organisms whose cells have a nucleus enclosed within membranes, unlike prokaryotes (Bacteria and Archaea). Eukaryotes belong to the domain Eukaryota or Eukarya. Their name comes from the Greek ἑμάρ (eu, "well" or "true") and κάρυον (karyon, "nut" or "kernel"). Eukaryotic cells also contain other membrane-bound organelles such as ...

Biochem/physiol Actions L-Glutamine is an essential amino acid that is a crucial component of culture media that serves as a major energy source for cells in culture. L-Glutamine is very stable as a dry powder and as a frozen solution. In liquid media or stock solutions, however, L-glutamine degrades relatively rapidly. Optimal cell performance usually requires supplementation of the media with ...

A biological membrane or biomembrane is an enclosing or separating membrane that acts as a selectively permeable barrier within living things. Biological membranes, in the form of eukaryotic cell membranes, consist of a phospholipid bilayer with embedded, integral and peripheral proteins used in communication and transportation of chemicals and ions. The bulk of lipid in a cell membrane provides ...

The 'lampbrush' phase of extended chromosomes during meiosis has also been suggested to enable forms of genetic re-processing. In non-mammals this extended phase involves open transcription of coding and non-coding regions and has been proposed to be a form of genetic processing (Wolfe R757), which probably occurs in a less obvious way in mammals as well.

Merkmale. Die Zellen der Eukaryoten haben meistens einen Durchmesser von 10 bis 30 µm. Sie sind in der Regel wesentlich größer als die von Prokaryoten, ihr Volumen beträgt etwa das 100- bis 10.000-fache. Für ein reibungsloses Funktionieren der zellulären Abläufe über größere Entfernungen innerhalb der Zelle ist ein höherer Organisationsgrad und eine Aufteilung des Zellraums in ...
